New Partnership Brings SuiteFiles to Australian Accountants

Wellington, 11 February 2016 – Australian Practice Studio Partner, Abacus Business Solutions, has joined with New Zealand SaaS company, The Full Suite, to bring SuiteFiles to local accountants. SuiteFiles is a cloud document management tool that helps businesses store, manage and work with their files online. Abacus Business believes it will deliver exceptional value to accountants and bookkeepers who want to improve their efficiency through cloud technology. Used by thousands of people around the world, SuiteFiles' integration with Xero and Microsoft Office 365 has attracted attention as businesses search for ways to connect their data between apps.

Abacus Business Director, Greg Harrison, sees SuiteFiles as "an awesome extension of the Xero offering - its tight integration with Xero Practice Manager and Microsoft Office 365 beautifully positions SuiteFiles to help those organisations who value great client-based document management."

Designed for small-medium businesses, SuiteFiles now has a strong customer base in the accounting industry, which makes up over 70% of its users. The product is steadily gaining traction in Australia – something which Abacus Business is keen to further alongside their own plans for growth in 2016.

Harrison acquired Abacus Business Solutions in May of last year after leaving his role as Education and Enablement Director at cloud accounting software company, Xero. Looking to cement Abacus Business' reputation as Xero experts and business advisors, Harrison sees this partnership with The Full Suite as a way to gain an edge over the competition and to extend the value of their offering into the accounting and bookkeeping sectors.

“Abacus Business have plans for significant growth in 2016 and this partnership is going to be foundational to us expanding our market reach and extending the richness of the Xero-based practice management solutions that we implement.”

This February, The Full Suite and Abacus Business are hitting the road to talk to Australian accountants and bookkeepers about SuiteFiles and the benefits of working in the cloud. Roadshow events are taking place in Sydney, Newcastle and Melbourne.
